The Recreational Pilot Permit Program in Delta, BC allows you to fly all single engine aircraft that are classified as non-high performance during daylight hours under Visual Flight Rules. No more than one passenger is to be carried on board and flights are limited to Canadian Airspace with a Recreational Pilot Permit program. A Recreational Pilot Permit may be upgraded to a Private License which will allow you train for additional ratings.

Training Overview of Recreational Pilot Permit Program

The Recreational Pilot Permit program in Delta, BC is divided into Ground school and Flight Training. Ground school is not a requirement for the RPP, but it is highly recommended. Ground school will furnish you with the required background knowledge and understandings to successfully challenge the written examination, while the air instruction and solo practice will provide you with the skills required to succeed at the flight test.
